

The 8th of September was proclaimed International Literacy Day by UNESCO in 1966 to remind the international community, the importance of literacy for individuals, communities and societies, and the need for intensified efforts towards more literate societies.

The issue of Literacy is the key component of the UN's Sustainable Development Goals 2030. This agenda has adopted by world leader in 2015. Sustainable Goals has one of its targets ensuring all young people achieve Literacy and numeracy and the adults, who lack these skills are given the opportunities to acquire them.
